THE EVENING CRITIC.

AMUSEMENTS.

National Theatre. The National Theatre, with its magnifi-cent minstrels of Col. Sam. Hague, con-tinues to draw fairly well, though not as well as the merit of the performance de-serves. These minstrels possess without ex-ception more talent as vocalists and artists than any other combination extant.

" The Mascotte." This delightful opera attracted quite a large audience at Ford's last night. The interest in it never flags, and the encores of the many beautiful passages increase nightly. Matince to-morrow at 2 p. m.

The Iron Steamship Company of New York, it is expected, will send to Yorktown three or more of the vessels which have been running through the season to Coney Island, for the accommodation of parties at the centennial. The White Line steamers Grand Republic and Columbia, each with a capacity of 5,000 passengers, will also be sent there. These steamers will convey passengers to any desired point, thus mak-ing it possible for large numbers to find places for sleeping in adjacent resorts, or at places for sleeping in adjacent resorts, or at-least furnishing protection and rest aboard as night comes on, should they not be char-tered to convey excursionists to some given

HOW SWEET IT WAS

He and she sat close together,
O, O! how sweet it was!
One cold night of wintry weather—
O, O! how sweet it was!
Up the chimney roared the fire,
And he drew his chair still nigher,
With a glance of fond desire—
O, O! how sweet it was!

She was winsome in her beauty, O, O! how sweet it was She was winsome in her beauty,
O, O! how sweet it was!
And he blushed in modest duty—
O, O! how sweet it was!
With a timid sort of haste,
And a heating heart, he placed
One long arm around her walst—
O, O! how sweet it was!
—How. -Hawkeye.

HOW BAD IT WAS. HOW SAD IT WAS.

Softly crept the old man nigh—
0, 0! how mad he was!
Anger flashing in his eye—
0, 0! how mad he was!
Slowly drawing back one foot
He elevated that galoot
Up the chimney 'mongst the soot—
0, 0! how mad he was!
Then oh how that girl did sigh—
0, 0! how sad she was!
Declared vehemently she'd die—
0, 0! how sad she was!
Then the ninderly she was led
By her manning upstatis to bed,
Where hot te-rs nlone she shed—
And 0! oh! how sad she was!

OUR CELEBRATION.

Action of the Executive Committee
Last Night.

The executive committee of the Yorktown Centennial Entertainment Association met at the City Post-office last evening, Commissioner Dent presiding and the following members present: William Diekson, Samuel Cross, Postmaster D. B.
Ainger, M. M. Parker, Col. Amos Webster,
Horatio Browning, M. I. Weller, James
Lansburgh, and E. S. Kimball. Mr. Cross, chairman of the finance committee, reported that the subscriptions to date amounted to
So. 200, one-half of which had been collected and deposited in bank. He was pretty sure that the amount necessary to make the reception a success would be subscribed, but the finance committee still had plenty of work ahead in collecting. It was suggested that

In the Democratic Convention at St. Paul, yesterday, the following nominations were made: For Governor, Gen. Richard W. Johnson: for Lieutemant-Governor, E. P. Barnum; for Auditor, J. Lehmke; for Sceretary of State, A. J. Lamberton; for Treasurer, John F. Cassel; for Attorney General, George A. Baxter; for Railroad Commissioner, R. S. Cook; for Clerk of the Supreme Court, J. J. Thornton. The convention readopted the National Democratic platform of 1889. As was expected, the convention adopted resolutions in favor of paying the old railroad bonds, an issue which the Republicans dodged at their, convention recently. The resolutions also strongly condemn repudiation in full forms, and express sympathy with the family of President Garfield. The present Supreme Court judges are indorsed for re-election, among whom is Judge Clark, who failed of a renomination by the Republicans. Minnesota Democrats.
